RE: Town of Rockport, D.P.U. 25-63

Dear Attorney Considine:

On May 28, 2025, the Town of Rockport ("Rockport" or "Town"), through its agent Colonial Power Group, Inc., filed with the Department of Public Utilities ("Department") a petition for approval of a municipal aggregation plan ("Plan") pursuant to G.L. c. 164, § 134(a). The Department conducted a public hearing on July 16, 2025, pursuant to a June 10, 2025 notice of filing, public hearing, and request for comments.¹

General Laws c. 164, § 134(a) authorizes any municipality or group of municipalities to aggregate the electrical load of interested customers within its boundaries, provided that the load is not served by a municipal light plant. The Municipal Aggregation Guidelines ("Guidelines") for municipal aggregation plan filings establish the specific requirements for all Plans. Municipal Aggregation Guidelines, D.P.U. 23-67-A (2024). A plan filing that complies with the Guidelines satisfies the requirements set forth in G.L. c. 164, § 134(a).

D.P.U. 23-67-A at 20.

The Department reviews a filed plan to determine whether it includes the information required by the Guidelines (including supplemental information provided by the Town at the request of the Department). Guidelines, Section V.B. If, upon review, the Department finds that a filed plan includes all such information, the Department will approve a plan as filed. Conversely, if the Department finds that a filed plan does not include all the information required by the Guidelines, the Department will not approve such plan and will identify the information such plan must include to warrant Department approval.

Table 1, below, identifies the information required by each section of the Guidelines and the section(s) of the Town's Plan that includes the necessary information.

Section IV.B.1.c of the Guidelines requires that Municipal Aggregation Plans “identify those Plan elements for which there may be variances in treatment between customer classes or subclasses, ... and explain why the varied treatment is reasonable and appropriate in consideration of the disparate characteristics of each customer class or subclass.” Section IV.B.1.c of the Plan filed by Rockport identifies all of the Plan elements listed in Table IV.B.1.c of the Plan as elements for which treatment may vary between customer classes: (1) procurement of supply; (2) product rate setting/renewable energy content; (3) other funding sources/costs; (4) customer enrollment; (5) customer notification; and (6) access to ongoing program information. The Plan (at page 6) states that:

[c]ustomer classes and subclasses differ in many respects such as electrical load, electricity consumption patterns or load factors, interest in and the ability to support enhanced renewable energy or opportunities described in the DOER

Best Practices or factors associated with Environmental Justice Populations such as English proficiency. These distinctions are expected to affect all aspects of Program operation. For example, effective and responsive procurement, product determination, enrollment, notification and ongoing customer education efforts will vary between residential and larger commercial or industrial customers due to differences between customers in these classes and their consumption patterns.

In D.P.U. 23-67-A, the Department stated that the Guidelines strike an appropriate balance between discretion (i.e., providing municipal aggregators with flexibility in the design and operation of their Programs) and transparency (i.e., ensuring that the public has ready access to useful information about such design and operation). D.P.U. 23-67-A at 7. The Department further stated that the Guidelines' provisions related to access to ongoing Program information, as set forth in Section IV.B.6, function as the "cornerstone" of transparency. D.P.U. 23-67-A at 7, 14-15. Therefore, when reporting on (1) procurement of supply, (2) product rate setting/renewable energy content, (3) other funding sources/costs, (4) customer enrollment, (5) customer notification, and (6) access to ongoing program information, the Town shall describe how its treatment differed between customer classes.²

² For example, the Town shall describe how its initial procurement of supply, as set forth in Section IV.B.2, differed between customer classes.

Based on our review of the Town's Plan, the Department finds that the information included in the sections identified in Table 1 complies with the information requirements set forth in the applicable section of the Guidelines and, therefore, satisfies all requirements in G.L. c. 164, § 134(a).³ Accordingly, the Municipal Aggregation Plan filed by the Town of Rockport is approved.

By Order of the Department,

James M. Van Nostrand, Chair
Cecile M. Fraser, Commissioner
Staci Rubin, Commissioner

³ The Department notes that the Town must comply with all of the requirements set forth in the Guidelines, even if the Plan did not specifically address a particular requirement.
